

...

Sort Recommended ▾

x

One of my aunts was severely impaired when she caught measles as a new born in the 1940's. She lived into at least her 70's visually and mentally impaired. My grandparents took care of her as long as they lived. (There was some time in a state school. But an incident which was never expl... \(more\)

...

No

Learn More

Absolutely not

Definitely yes

...

x

As a Christian I support vaccines though why you've chosen Christians I cant imagine. The reason I support vaccines is my cousin died of measles and my friends brother died of diphtheria in 1945. If I had my babies now 2025 instead of 1968,1970 and 1972,I would pay privately to space out the vaccines so that the baby wasn't given a triple vaccine, but that's my thoughts.Why did YOU single out Christians in your question?

...

No

×

100% of the intelligent ones. The rest don't matter because they will soon be dead, but each death will produce a noticeable uptick in the average intelligence of the world.

...

No

2/21/2025, 9:15 PM

Quora

Try Quora+

Add question

 Learn More

 Upvote · 78

...

 William Dupree · Follow

Former Software Engineer at AT&T (company) (1980–2016) · 6m

Most of Christianity has no problem whatsoever with vaccines. Period. Full stop.

 Upvote

...

 Your feedback is private

Was this a useful answer to your question?

( Yes )

( No )

 Add a comment...

Add comment

5 answers collapsed (Why?)

Related questions

Why are so many Christians leaving Christianity?

Why don't some Christians (mostly Evangelical) vaccinate their children?

What is the Christian view on vaccination?

What religion(s) are against vaccines?

Can Christians get the covid vaccine? Are most Christians getting the vaccine?

Are all Christians against the Covid-19 vaccination? If so, why?

Some people allege that vaccinations cause autism. What are your thoughts about that?

Is there really NO evidence of vaccines causing autism aside from that one Wakefield study?

How do liberals explain cases of EIGHT YEAR OLD kids suddenly losing the ability to make ey...

Why are so many people against vaccines even though they are not harmful?

What do Christian scientists think about the Covid 19 vaccine, and will they take it?

What is the number of Christians in the world?

What is an abortion?

Do vaccines work or are they dangerous?

Do Christians, Jews, and Muslims support vaccines? Is it because it'll help in sacrificing more souls to the Jewish God?

Does Christianity really go against vaccines?

2 of 2

2/21/2025, 9:15 PM